The project Erasmus+ "Flip and Movie" (2015 - 2017) funded by the European Union is about a strategic partnership among the schools of Croatia, Italy, Spain Slovakia and Latvia. The project which was born considering the poor comprehension of reading on behalf of fifteen years old students, wants to achieve the development of reading and creative writing through the use of New Technologies (TIC).

It represents a further and unique opportunity of searching, endless training and development of digital and linguistic skills for teachers, students and community.

The international dimension of the whole project which involves five partner schools, gives it a great value because it allows the creation of the European class.

The students approach the reading and creative writing through workshops in the English language and "reading competitions" during the mobilities and in their schools.

Teachers and headteachers of the five partner schools involved in the project have the opportunity to work in the international atmosphere, taking part in formative and stimulating workshops and seminars.

At the end of the two year project, the output will be a kit containing all the methodologies and the most innovative strategies to motivate students to read and write in a creative way. The kit "Happy 2 Read and Write" will be exposed through different ways of dissemination in each country involved in the Project.
